Average to above average snow packs throughout Idaho's high country are a welcome respite after six straight years of drought. And despite a dry period during much of February, the snow levels are holding steady as spring nears.

Members of the Idaho Water Supply Committee will meet tomorrow afternoon at the Idaho Water Center to go over the latest data and assess the possibility for flooding. The Water Supply Committee includes water managers and hydrology experts from both the private and public sectors. Each will provide input used to formulate a comprehensive water picture for 2006.

The meeting is open to the public.

When: Wednesday, March 15, 2006

Where: IDWR Headquarters, sixth floor conference center, The Idaho Water Center, 322 E. Front Street, Boise

Time: 2:00 p.m.

Parking is located in the Water Center parking garage and there is a fee to park.
